

ACADEMIC PRICING LETTER OF UNDERSTANDING

Dear Professor,

Wolverine is pleased to offer you deeply discounted academic pricing for our commercial-grade software products, GPSS/H, SLX, and Proof Animation.

We will allow you to do a limited amount of revenue-generating consulting and/or applied research with this software. In order to be fair to our commercial customers who pay full price for the same object code, we must require you to sign the following statement limiting your use. The intention is to permit limited personal services and to prohibit all other use that falls outside the domain of normal academic research and teaching activities.

By signing this statement, you give us your personal promise to abide by these conditions. The statement is not intended to be a part of any license between Wolverine and you or your academic employer, or to affect such a license in any way.

Type of Consulting Use Allowed

“I promise that use of any of these products for revenue-generating consulting or applied research will be under my own name or on behalf of my academic employer. I understand that any business operating under a business name (whether or not formally organized) must pay full commercial prices for software licenses from Wolverine. I take responsibility for informing Wolverine if the software identified below becomes used for consulting purposes by any business or by any person, including myself, operating under a business name.”

Amount of Consulting Use Allowed

“I promise that no more than 500 hours of billable consulting work will be performed using any combination of the software identified below by any combination of university employees, students, or other individuals, including myself, during any 12 month period. I take responsibility for informing Wolverine if the software identified below is used for consulting in excess of this limit.”

Transfer of Software and Materials Not Permitted

“Finally, I agree that under no circumstances will any documentation or copies of documentation, software or copies of software, or other materials provided by Wolverine under academic pricing, be transferred, formally or informally, permanently or temporarily, to any other party, commercial, government, or otherwise.”

Responsibility for Additional Payment

“If any of the above three limitations is ever exceeded, I will use my best efforts to see that Wolverine receives fair payment up to the then-current price of the equivalent commercial software license.”
